By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

"Oh, don't the days seem long and long, When all goes right and nothing goes wrong, And isn't your life extremely flat With nothing whatever to grumble at?"

Old Father Neptune pays a call on Herbert Hoover. Official, or unofficial visit?

President Coolidge slays nine clay pigeons down in the Virginia mountains. The call of the wild!

The lease of a 22-room apartment in Washington by Ambassador Houghton is worth a column of cabinet-making speculation.

Emilio Gil warns the presidential chair in Mexico, and let us hope he won't find it a "hot seat."

The Ku Klux Klan undertakes to tell Secretary Kellogg just what reservations he must add to his peace treaty, thus adding a march on the Antislavery League, which has been waiting for the Fourth to come before taking charge.

Republican business men of the country are now shaking in their boots as the realization hits the pocket nerve that the tariff revision they had feared from Al, is crystallizing into a certainty. An unheard of thing like this, as Hamlet would say,

"Puzzles the will, And makes us rather bear those ills we have Than fly to others that we know not of."

Georgia gentleman is sentenced to death for the third time. It's hard to break the habits of a life-time.

We fear that very few of the Wall street aviators who are going after the stock-market altitude record have taken the precaution to provide themselves with parachutes.

Mr. Coolidge undoubtedly would have begged ten clay pigeons yesterday, only one of them was slightly wounded and got away.

It is understood that as soon as Fred Britten's buffalo robe and ear muffs have been taken from the maul he is going up and talk this thing over with Secretary Kellogg.

Chicago's vice war has now reached the point where she is thinking of ordering a halo from Tiffany.

Mr. Hoover crossed the "line" years ago, but until he is initiated by the seasoned old shell-bucks of the Senate.

What puzzles us is why Mr. Hoover when he was passing the place didn't just wave his magic wand and give 'em that Nicaraguan canal. It would be an easy afternoon's job for George Akerson's typewriter, while Will Irwin could have added a lock or two as easily as a semicolon.

Uncle Sam is very sanguine as he makes another effort to induce the taxpayers of Canada to help him enforce his prohibition law, for as Bernard would say, there's one born every minute.

Marlboro autist is fined $5 for trying to knock a train off the track. Something drastic must be done to protect the railroads of this country from the joyriders.

Allan Ryan inherits the world's most expensive pair of cuff buttons.

Friends of Jim Watson familiar with the intricacies of legislative business are well content in their knowledge that Senate leadership is a good deal like McGregor's seat.

The administration seems to be a whole lot more interested in a joint conference in Canada on prohibition than on naval disarmament.

Before we can hope to have up-to-date revision of the tariff at the short session Congress will have to make arrangements for downward revision of Blanton and Heflin.

George Bernard Shaw must have been asleep at the switch when he picked a bromide as the heroine of his first movie—Pola Negri could play the golden-haired queen of Carthage herself as well, for Cleo, like Dido, and Helen of Troy, and Venus, was a blonde girl. You would never catch Flo Ziegfeld making a mistake like this.

According to Dr. Fries, the person accused of being ungrammatical when he uses "ain't" is perfectly justified in retorting "I ain't."

And Bernard Shaw says he can't think of anybody capable of interpreting the part of Caesar. Well, Johnny Rascob is at leisure.

The G. O. P. shows admirable restraint in refraining from moving to serve five Republican States out of Texas.

HAWLEY CALLS COMMITTEE TO ACT ON TARIFF

Republicans of Ways and Means Summoned to Meet on Monday.

CHAIRMAN FAVORS GENERAL REVISION

Opposes Piecemeal Changes as Farm Aid—Capper Says West Ready for Cuts.

The Republican administration of Herbert Hoover was launched yesterday on a program of complete revision of the present Fordney-McCumber tariff bill. Chairman Hawley, of the ways and means committee, announced he had called a meeting of the Republican members of the committee for Monday to determine upon a course of action. The chairman declared he favored holding hearings on the new tariff bill during the short session with final action taken probably during the special session which he anticipates. In any event, whether there is a special session or not, the ways and means committee will have commenced its work.

The decision to hold hearings during the short session rests with the members of the committee. It is assumed that the chairman speaks for the majority sentiment and that the decision, for all practical purposes, has already been reached.

Chairman Hawley is opposed to any piecemeal changes in the tariff at the short session in connection with any possible attempt to pass remedial farm legislation. He is of the opinion the tariff should be handled as a whole and only after exhaustive hearings have been held.

Follows Longworth Views.

This is in line with the views held by Speaker Longworth, Representative Bertram Snell, of the powerful rules committee, and other leaders, although Floor Leader Tilden, representing the New England viewpoint, is anxious to have tariff legislation enacted at the earliest possible moment.

Chairman Hawley is not committed to the idea of a special session. He goes along with the views expressed by the Speaker and by Representative Snell (Republican), New York, namely, that the way should be left open for the members from the farm belt to pass farm legislation at the short session if they desire. If they do so, a special session will be rendered unnecessary, while if they fail it seems inevitable.

The possibilities of discord in the new tariff bill are fully realized and the aim is to approach it slowly and with the utmost care.

Copper Statement Strips.

The note sounded yesterday by Senator Arthur Capper to the effect that the West proposes to vote for a reduction on tariff duties that are "too high" has sent a shiver through the New England wing of the House representation where the demand is for a horizontal increase.

About the Capitol corridors it is rumored that the enthusiasm for a slashing increase in tariff rates is being rebuffed by banking authorities in New York and other large cities. The huge investments which have been made abroad during the past few years have had a tendency to slow up the enthusiasm for tariff walls rather than for tariff barriers, and the membership of the United States Chamber of Commerce is reported to be divided on the subject.

Labor organizations also are reported to be formulating demands that increased prices guaranteed by high tariff rates be accompanied by some form of guarantee that higher prices be translated into higher wages.

Policeman Trapped in Raid On Place Held Gambling Den

Patrolman James Gawn Seized With Three Other Men and Alleged Liquor in Twentieth Street Building. Commissioners Uphold Several Dismissals.

Sweeping into an alleged gambling establishment at 1118 Twentieth street northwest shortly after 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a police raiding squad trapped four men, one of whom proved to be Patrolman James Gawn, of the Third Precinct.

Charges of permitting gaming and illegal possession of a small quantity of liquor were placed against G. A. Gawn, 30 years old, alleged proprietor of the establishment, on the Third Precinct books. The other two men were questioned by police and released.

Relieved of his equipment, Patrolman Gawn was suspended by his commander, Capt. William F. Stott, of the Third Precinct. He will be cited for Police Trial Board action.

While Patrolman Gawn was being suspended, the dismissal of three other members of the force, as recommended by the Police Trial Board, was approved by the Commissioners. Capt. Stott said that Gawn, who was off duty on "sick leave," declared

Prince Bibesco Is Hit In Face by Diplomat

Stoica, Former Friend, Strikes One-Time Minister in Bucharest

Bucharest, Roumania, Nov. 30 (A.P.). Hostilities between Roumanian diplomats, which started several years ago in Washington, came to a head in the office of Juiiu Maniu, prime minister, today. Prince Antoine Bibesco, former Minister to the United States, was struck a sharp blow in the face by Basil Stoica, a subordinate in the diplomatic service.

Stoica, it was said, had reason to believe that Bibesco wrote a damaging report concerning him to the Roumanian foreign office while both were on duty in Washington. It was stated that Stoica challenged his chief to a duel at that time, but the latter declined to fight.

The subordinate awaited his opportunity for vengeance, which came when the two met in the office of the prime minister. Maniu separated the men, ordered Stoica out of his office and directed the foreign ministry to discipline him.

Prince Bibesco served as Minister to Portugal after leaving Washington. Only recently he had been designated as Minister to Spain. His wife is a daughter of Lady Asquith, of England.

The Roumanian Legation said last night that Prince Antoine Bibesco.

CANADA JOINS U. S. IN BORDER RUM WAR

Eleven Border Patrol Inspectors Charged With Bribery and Conspiracy.

LIQUOR DOCKS CLOSED

Detroit, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The United States and Canadian governments moved spontaneously today to crush the rum-running and bootlegging rackets along the Detroit water boundary, estimated to represent a $50,000,000 a year industry.

While United States customs officials were arrested eleven border patrol inspectors on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to aid in the smuggling of liquor into the United States from Canada, provincial authorities on the opposite side of the river were issuing orders for closing 30 liquor export docks in border cities.

The immediate effect of the cross-fire from both sides of the border is expected to be the dryest holiday season in the Detroit area in years.

Arrest of the United States inspectors came as a result of a sweeping investigation into rumblings of graft and corruption among forces that guard the American border against liquor smuggling, and signaled the start of what John B. Watkins, United States district attorney, described as "a general house-cleaning in the service."

He estimated that 50 inspectors would be dismissed before the investigation ends. The closing of export docks on the Canadian side of the border was in line with orders issued recently by Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Ontario liquor control board, and W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue, to centralize the liquor export business in ten large docks, under strict supervision of customs officers.

This action, it was explained, was to prevent the "short-circuiting" or "bypassing" of liquor back into Canada through bootleg channels. The investigation that led to arrest of the United States customs inspectors was conducted by undercover agents sent out from Washington. Ten of the inspectors were arrested at the patrol base this morning and taken to Watkins' office for questioning.

This was followed by issuance of warrants and this afternoon the District Attorney began laying his information before a Federal grand jury.

Watkins said other arrests probably would follow.

Sleeper estimated he had discharged 175 inspectors since he began reorganizing the service a year ago. The last shakeup came on October 15 when sixteen inspectors were dismissed.

NEW APPOINTMENTS MADE BY PORTES GIL

Will Keep Three of Calles' Assistants in Old Cabinet Posts.

CITES GOOD-WILL OF U. S.

Mexico City, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Emilio Portes Gil is provisional president of Mexico, to serve one year until a regular president is elected. He took over the reins of government today and pledged his administration to a continuation of the policies of President Plutarco Elias Calles, whom he succeeded.

He made special mention of his hope of continuing a mutual understanding with the United States.

The provisional president tonight announced the composition of his cabinet, which will include three members in the same positions they occupied under President Calles. These three are Gen. Joaquin Amaro, secretary of war; Jose Manuel Puig Casau-Roques, secretary of industry, and Luis Montes de Oca, secretary of finance.

The new members and their portfolios are: Interior, Pascual Ortiz Rubio, former Minister to Germany; foreign relations, Genaro Estrada, undersecretary of the department during the last administration; agriculture, Marie R. Gomez, president of the chamber of deputies; communications, Javier Sanchez Morjan, an engineer; and education, Eusebio Padilla, who was attorney general under President Calles.

At the same time the new president announced the reappointment of Primo Villamil as governor of the federal district, and Fernando Torre-Blanca as private secretary to the president.

New appointments were: Attorney general, Enrique Medina, former assistant prosecutor of the federal district who presented the government's case against Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of Gen. Obregon; prosecutor of the federal district, Jose Aguilar y Maya; rector of the National University, Antonio Castro y Leal, chief of the national health bureau; Dr. Aquilino Villanueva, chief of the national statistics bureau; Juan de B. Bojorquez, chief of the military manufacture and supply department; Arturo M. Elias, former consul general at New York and half brother of President Calles; comptroller general, Julio Freserlin Morin, chief of the presidential military staff; Col. Jose M. Tapia; and inspector general of police, Gen. Lucas Gonzalez.

The ceremony of administering the oath of office took less than half an hour. The grand stands in the National Palace were filled.

Robbers Loot Mail On Way to Airport

Awe St. Louis Driver and His Wife With Guns, Then Flee in Motor.

St. Louis, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Two robbers held up the air mail truck on its way to Lambert-St. Louis field late today and escaped with five sacks of outgoing air mail, including several registered packages. The amount of money contained in the packages was not ascertained.

Harry G. Graham, driver of the mail car, a postoffice employee, accompanied by his wife, was driving toward the field on the outskirts of the city, when the robbers drove up.

The robbers sprung out of their car with drawn revolvers and ordered Graham and his wife out of the mail car. The robbers transferred the mail bags to their automobile and disappeared.

Graham was unable to get more than a glimpse of the license number of the automobile. The first three numbers were "478." He could not recall the others.

3 MORE "PALS" HELD IN KILLING OF ROTHSTEIN

Banton Says He Has Good Case of Circumstantial Evidence for Trial.

PERSONS IN MURDER ROOM ARE IDENTIFIED

Indictments Are Delayed as Grand Jury Delves Into New Evidence.

Special to The Washington Post. New York, Nov. 30.—Without returning an indictment in the Arnold Rothstein murder case, the grand jury adjourned this afternoon until Monday afternoon, but District Attorney Joab H. Banton tonight declared indictments would be returned soon after the grand jury resumes, and he added:

"We have a beautiful case of circumstantial evidence—beautiful evidence that is in the clear" with his investigation, in which he has groped since November 4, when the gambler king was shot down in a room in the Park Central Hotel, made it plain that he now believes he is in a fair way to prosecute as Rothstein's slayer George A. McManus, debonaire white light district and race track gambler, and two of his companions.

During the day, four new witnesses identified McManus as an occupant of Room 349 of the Park Central on the night Rothstein was fatally shot in that room, and identification of McManus' two companions in the murder room before the shooting was made before the grand jury, but their names still are a closely guarded secret.

Three More Are Held.

Three gambling friends of Rothstein today were added to the group of men held as material witnesses, each in $10,000 bail. They are "Tough Willie" McCabe and the diminutive brothers, Meyer and Samuel Boston.

McCabe, holding a handkerchief before his face to foil cameramen, strolled into the Criminal Courts Building with his attorney, Frederick J. Sullivan, protesting to have been surprised to learn that Banton had wanted to see him again. He had been up in Garrison, N. Y., on a business trip, he explained, through his attorney, and hadn't kept in touch with the news.

The Boston boys, trotting along on the heels of Detective Patrick Flood, were as camera shy as "Tough Willie." Thoughtfully, the brothers had provided themselves with blue-lensed glasses.

While the three Broadway gamblers were depositing a total of $30,000 in bonds before Judge Francis X. Mancuso to insure against their forgetting to appear before the grand jury Monday afternoon, a patter of feminine footsteps and the dull thuds of men's rubber heels came from the strongly guarded entrances to the grand jury room.

Lawyer Before Grand Jury.

The day's feminine witnesses included Mrs. Carolyn Rothstein, widow of the slain gambler, and a housekeeper at the Park Central. Maurice Cantor, the attorney who drew up the disputed Rothstein will, which the dying gambler signed with a wavering cross just before his death, also appeared before the inquisitorial body.

Two lines of questioning greeted Cantor and the widow. One was the possibility of Rothstein disclosing in his dying moments the name of his slayer and the other a demand to know just what happened to the famous letter files of the gambler, looted soon after his death.

Banton refused to reveal whether Cantor divulged that Rothstein knew the name of his slayer or if Cantor had pleaded the right of professional secrecy as Rothstein's attorney.

"The most people who know that Rothstein didn't hesitate to come into court back in 1918 and identify three gunmen who held him up in the old Portland Hotel, I don't think that Rothstein would have refused to tell the name of the man who shot him," said Banton significantly.

New Evidence Considered.

"And the rule of professional secrecy doesn't include knowledge regarding the criminal actions of a third party which might be revealed to an attorney by his client," he continued.

Early in the day Banton went before Judge Mancuso and requested that McManus, held without bail in the Tombs on a short affidavit charging suspicion of murder, be remanded until Tuesday. This was done and the formal indictments which were looked for by noon were delayed while the grand jury considered what the prosecutor declared was "new and important evidence."

No objection was made by his counsel to the further detention of McManus on the temporary charge.

"He came here voluntarily and we intend to be patient," Murray announced.

Millions in Ryan Will Go to 2 Children Here

Elinor and James Ryan to be Shielded From Influence of Riches

The names of Elinor Ryan, 19 years old, and her brother, James, a year younger, soon will be added to the roster of Washington millionaires under the provisions of the will of their grandfather, Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York capitalist, who died November 23 and whose will was filed for probate in New York yesterday.

The holdings of the Ryan estate, variously estimated at between $200,000,000 and $500,000,000, are to be divided into 54 parts, of which the grandchildren will receive five parts, to be divided between them under trusteeship. Under this arrangement not less than $5,000,000 would be the share of each should the lowest estimate prevail. In the event that the estate should prove to be worth the amount of the maximum estimate, each would receive more than $21,000,000.

The children, orphaned by the death of both parents within the span of a few years, have since made their homes with Mrs. Alexander P. Morse, their grandmother, at Valley View Farm, on Ridge road. Elinor Ryan

HOUGHTON SEEKING HOME IN DISTRICT

Disclosure Revives Speculation as to Possibility of Getting Cabinet Post.

IS MENTIONED FOR STATE

By CARLISLE BARGERON. Disclosure that Ambassador Houghton of Great Britain has been negotiating for an apartment here revived speculation yesterday over the possibility of his being selected for the Hoover Cabinet, presumably as Secretary of State.

So far have the negotiations gone that Houghton, now in London, is expected at any time to sign the lease for the apartment. It would be either the entire second or fourth floor of 1735 Massachusetts avenue, on the fifth floor of which Secretary Mellon lives. It has 22 rooms, the same as that occupied by Mr. Mellon.

Houghton first became interested in the apartment when he was here just after the close of the recent campaign, in which he was defeated in New York for United States senator.

It might be, of course, that at that time he contemplated living here without any regard to a Cabinet post. So it happens, however, that his name had already entered the speculation concerning the Secretary of State post, along with that of Ambassador Morrow, of Mexico; Senator Borah and Ambassador Fletcher, of Italy. The fact that he was apartment hunting while here gives some weight to the mention of his name, at least.

The ambassador's return to his post at London, from which he had resigned to enter the senatorial race, caused considerable surprise. President Coolidge prevailed upon him to go back to finish out the administration.

Coolidge, in previously replying to the ambassador's letter of resignation, had given the impression that the resignation was accepted.

When Houghton was prevailed upon to return to his post, however, another reading of the President's letter disclosed that he had not accepted the resignation in the first instance.

It is no secret that the ambassador was drafted by the Republican high command to make the New York senatorial race to bolster up the State ticket. Republican senatorial candidates have hard sledding in New York.

Farmer's Life Sacrificed To Belief in Witchcraft

Attempt of Alleged Powwow Doctor and Two Youths to Obtain Lock of Hair Results in Killing—Body Trussed Up and Buried.

York, Pa., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Witchcraft has claimed another victim in Pennsylvania, the second in recent years.

The latest sacrifice on the altar of Voodooism was Nelson D. Rehmyer, 50 years old, who lived alone on a lonely farm 4 miles west of Shrewsbury. He died when he resisted efforts of a superstitious-crazed man and two youths to cut a lock of hair from his head, which they wanted to bury 8 feet under the ground to break the spell they believed had been cast over the family of Milton J. Hess.

The trio alleged to have slain Rehmyer are in the York County Jail. The two youths, John Curry, 14 years old, and Wilbert O. Hess, 18, have signed confessions. The third prisoner is John Byrner, of York, an alleged witch doctor.

According to the involved and not entirely coherent stories told to officials by the two youths, the plan to obtain

POLICE LINK MURDER WITH SHOP HOLDUP

Killer of Manager of Filling Station Believed Man Who Robbed Tailor.

BULLETS WILL BE TRACED

Police pin their strongest hope of capturing the slayer of Philbert H. Bitter, 29-year-old gasoline station manager, to Julius Goode, tailor, and his assistant, Walter Fields, of 251 Florida avenue northwest.

Detectives feel certain the young negro who trained a .45-caliber automatic pistol on Goode and Fields Wednesday night in their tailor shop while six others robbed them of $305 is the same person who fatally shot Bitter the following night in front of the gasoline station he managed at Sixth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest and escaped with three companions. The gun wielder in the holdup can be identified.

Two copper-colored slugs and two empty shells, with marks deemed sufficient to enable experts to identify the 45-caliber automatic pistol from which they were fired, are the other clues police have obtained.

Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt delayed the inquest into the death until Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock so as to give Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, chief of the homicide squad and Capt. Guy Burlingame, of the Second Precinct, time in which to carry on their investigation.

A battered felt hat, at first regarded as an important clue and believed to have been dropped by one of the slayers, two of whom disappeared in a large automobile in which they drove up to the station, while the two others escaped through a nearby alley, has proven valuable. The letter "B" was discovered cut into the sweatband of the hat, which was said to belong to Bitter, a former marine, of 817 Sheridan street northwest.

Bitter, his strength failing with his fast ebbing life, whispered a meager description of his slayer shortly before he died.

"I never saw him or the others before. He was the smallest of the negroes. He wore glasses," Bitter gasped to police of the Second Precinct.

Detectives believe the slayer wore the "cheaters" as a part disguise. The automobile, believed to have been abandoned by two of the slayers a few minutes after the murder on the

GURT BULLETIN REVIVES GRAVE FEAR FOR KING

"No Change," Says Late Report Made by the Royal Doctors.

PUBLIC WARNED ACUTE STAGE MAY LIE AHEAD

Earlier Statement Asserts Improvement Is Noted at Consultation.

London, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The brevity of tonight's bulletin on the condition of King George gave little comfort to an anxious empire, following, as it did, upon a statement by his physicians today that it was not impossible for his illness to enter an acute stage.

While Sir Humphrey Rolleston added his consultative opinion to the earlier bulletin, tonight's bulletin was signed only by Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn. It said simply: "The condition of the King shows no change this evening."

More informative was the statement of the afternoon, reading:

"The inflammation of the lung and pleura shows some improvement. The temperature is slightly lower. The time of possible exacerbation of the infection, it must be noted, has not yet passed and in any case progress must be slow."

Crowd Is Disappointed. This summarization of his majesty's condition, after ten days of struggle against a heavy cold and pleurisy, was issued after a longer examination than usual and after consultation with another expert for the first time in the case.

There was evident disappointment among the crowds gathered outside Buckingham Palace when the brief message was posted tonight. There was a comment that no information whatever was given as to what sort of a day the royal patient had experienced.

The fact that the evening bulletin was issued promptly at the accustomed hour was interpreted as a good sign. The anxious British public is beginning to realize to the full that, as the noon bulletin warned, the progress of the case must be slow.

Consultation Is Long.

Semi-official word that his majesty was a little better in all respects this morning forestalled any alarm at the unexpected consultation of Sir Humphrey. The regular physicians of the king had been with his majesty about an hour before Sir Humphrey reached the palace. So extended a study did the three physicians make, reviewing carefully the whole case, its present aspects and its possible as well as most likely developments, that their bulletin was delayed nearly two hours after the customary hour, to the anxiety of the exceptionally large crowd outside the palace.

The admiralty announced today that the Prince of Wales practically had decided to leave H. M. S. Enterprise at Scapa after the run from Dar-es-Salaam and then to proceed by train to Alexandria. There he will embark on one of his majesty's ships, probably the Frobenius, for either Brindisi, Naples or Marseilles.

Queen Mary left the palace twice during the day, once spending nearly three hours in private visits.

The first public letter by the new Archbishop of Canterbury, issued two nights ago, was addressed to the Bishop of London and called for prayers for the speedy recovery of the king to be offered in all churches next Sunday and until all cause for anxiety has been removed. In the course of his letter the archbishop said: "We are thankful to know that the illness is progressing favorably."

Shaw Agrees to Film Play, Paper Declares

London, Dec. 1 (Saturday) (A.P.).—The Mail today quotes Pina Negri as saying that as the result of her visit to George Bernard Shaw yesterday she has agreed to a motion picture production of his play "Caesar and Cleopatra," although she said she didn't think he knew "anybody capable of interpreting the part of Caesar."

Vessel in Distress Held "Overloaded"

Letter From Engineer Forecast Trouble, It Is Said; 3 Ships Stand By

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—With three rescue vessels standing by and two more en route, the disabled Canadian-American ship Co. freighter, Cliffridge, was being held in the trough of the Pacific about 300 miles from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, today. Forty men, eight white officers and a crew of 22 Chinese were aboard the freighter, which was completely out of control with 13 feet of water in the engine room and a 15 degree list.

Catharines, Ontario, Nov. 30 (U.P.).—The St. Catharines Standard published today a letter from Ernest McKean, said to be an engineer aboard the distressed steamship Cliffridge, to his brother Robert McKean of St. Catharines. The letter, mailed November 18 from British Columbia, said the ship was being "heavily overloaded" before leaving British Columbia ports for Shanghai.

Lumber was being piled 10 feet high on the decks, it was said. The letter concluded: "Keep a sharp lookout in the papers for reports of this vessel having trouble."

Assassin, on Trial, Shot Dead in Court

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—An Albanian blood feud today reached into a court in this city and took the life of Alibishi Bebe, 24-year-old Albanian, who assassinated Zena Bey, Minister of Albania, here in October, 1927.

The youthful assassin was in the midst of a dramatic recital from the witness stand of how and why he killed when Ziti Vuciterna, a servant of Zena Bey, brother of Zena Bey, fired six dum-dum bullets from a revolver.

Bebe was killed and Delvelcho, correspondent for Giornale d'Italia, a leading Fascist newspaper of Rome, and Dr. Jetaura, official court interpreter, were wounded.

Judge Hunt, Resigning, Praised by Coolidge

San Francisco, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The resignation of Judge William Henry Hunt, senior judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, was accepted today by President Coolidge. In a letter to Judge Hunt, President Coolidge commended him for his work on the bench.

The jurist was born in New Orleans November 5, 1857. He was Secretary of the Navy under President Garfield, and Governor General of Porto Rico from 1900 to 1904. He was appointed United States district judge in Montana in 1904 and in 1910 was United States circuit judge.

WURZBACH FIGURES GAINED BY THREAT

Election Judge, Warned of Contempt, Finds Lost Data; Others Accounted For

TEXAS QUIZ MOVES FAST

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Threats of contempt proceedings in Congress by Chairman Fred Lehbach, of the House committee investigating the disputed result of the Fourteenth Texas District congressional race, had a salutary effect in the hearing, which closed today.

One of the three precinct election judges claiming to have lost or misplaced their copies of the official ballots returned late today with his copy. Another judge said he had mistakenly put his copy in the ballot box, but declared that the count differed from the official count announced. The third judge stated that a Democratic worker got his copy of the returns and altered the figures thereon. Lehbach told the judges to produce the copies or "hear from Washington," mentioning the seriousness of contempt in a scathing voice.

Anton Woelcher, the judge who produced his "lost" copy of returns, returned late today with his copy, explaining he found it under his brother's trunk. This amused the crowd, which had to be quieted.

The committee closely examined election judges and county commissioners as to the method of counting, final result of which gave County Judge Augustus McCloskey, Democrat, victory by 300 votes over Representative Harry Wurzbach, Republican, who is contesting the validity of McCloskey's commissioner's court canvass. Going behind this canvass, the committee ordered photostatic copies made of the original returns in the seventeen disputed precincts.

L. Schwartz, one of the three judges reprimanded by Lehbach for showing up without copies of returns, "with a grin on your face" said he mistakenly put his copy in the ballot box, but later called that Wurzbach got 181 votes. Wurzbach declared the commissioners court canvass gave him only 180 votes in the precinct.

Wurzbach had been unofficially announced winner for his fifth term until the commissioners court canvass showed victory for McCloskey. Taking the stand himself, Wurzbach detailed several alleged discrepancies in returns, charging apparent use of eradicators and other methods of alterations.

"Lifer," Pardoned; In Soldiers' Home

Partial Freedom for Civil War Veteran, 81, Laid to G. A. R. Pals

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—From a "lifer" cell in the Indiana State Prison to a place of honor in the Old Soldiers' Home, Henry J. Romine, 81-year-old Civil War veteran, was taken today.

The State pardon board forgave the old soldier and pardoned him for the murder of two men after he had served fifteen years of a life sentence. The pardon was conditional to the extent that Romine could not leave the soldier's home at Lafayette, Ind., without permission from the governor and the pardon board.

Romine, who was the oldest life prisoner in the State penitentiary here, was given parole each year to attend to his family. He was in an argument, he had been a model prisoner and had been given parole each year to attend to his family. He was in an argument, he had been a model prisoner and had been given parole each year to attend to his family.

The O. A. R. campmaster, his pardon was brought about through the efforts of other war veterans, among them M. G. Crampin, of Indianapolis.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, mounted a truck in front of the Macon National Bank and pleaded for the crowd to disperse and raise the banner of "Business as usual."

"You have been breaking banks of Macon for 40 years with just such foolishness as this," said Jesse B. Hart, president of the Macon National, as he mounted an armored truck loaded with currency. "But this is one bank that you are not going to break."

Merchants of the city, through the Chamber of Commerce, announced tonight that they would take checks on the bank figuring in today's "run" for making purchases or paying bills.

Railway Men Blamed.

"There is no cause to be alarmed," said Henry F. Martin, manager of Bradstreet's Commercial Agency tonight. "Macon's banks are fundamentally sound. They are absolutely 100 per cent good and the runs of the day have been unnecessary and unfortunate. I have absolute faith in Macon's financial institutions, and I have no advice but to have confidence in them."

The Central of Georgia Railway, the Southern Railway and the Georgia Railroad have all paid off this week. This morning about ten negro employees of one of the railroads entered the Macon National and one of them waved his blue check and shouted: "I'm going to get mine!" A messenger boy saw the group of employees and rushing out is said to have told some one that there was a "run" on the Macon National. That started the "run," it is believed.

$6,000,000 CHECKS MACON BANK RUNS

Federal Reserve Floods City With Most Cash in Its History.

BISHOP QUIETS CROWDS

Macon, Ga., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The arrival of an armored truck from the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta and three private trucks, bringing more than $6,000,000 here early tonight, appeared to have checked a run that started on four Macon banks today.

With the trucks came Eugene R. Black, governor of the Sixth Federal Reserve Bank, who went into conference with local bankers after which they confirmed earlier reports that the banks would be open for business tomorrow morning as usual, with plenty of cash on hand to pay off all those who want their money.

It was declared by persons in a position to know that there was more currency in the city of Macon tonight than was ever assembled here at any time in the history of the city.

4 Banks Get Money.

The trucks brought money to the Macon National Bank, the Luther Williams Bank & Trust Co., the Citizens & Southern National Bank and the Macon Savings Bank.

The run on the Citizens & Southern Bank ended during the afternoon after ten tellers had been placed in the savings department and paid all depositors who demanded their money. During the afternoon many redeposited their money. This bank did not close during the afternoon.

NORTHCOTT DENIES DEATH-FARM STORY

Expecting Freedom Without Trial, He Asserts That He Never Confessed.

FINDS AID IN RELIGION

Los Angeles, Nov. 30 (U.P.).—Gordon Stuart Northcott has repudiated a "confession" ascribed to him by officers who accompanied him from Canada and intends to fight charges that he mistreated and murdered four boys on his Riverside chicken ranch, he said today.

Certainly do not intend to plead guilty to anything," young Northcott said when returned to Los Angeles and placed in a cell once-occupied by William Edward Hickman, who was hanged at San Quentin prison for the slaying of a Los Angeles school girl.

Northcott was assigned before Superior Judge Reuben Schmidt after his arrest and December 8 was set as the date for him to plead to an indictment charging him with the slaying of an unidentified Mexican boy. Charges in connection with the other three slayings attributed to him on his "death farm" are being handled by Riverside County authorities.

Does Not Expect Trial.

"You can't plant a couple of bones and accuse a man of murder," Northcott said in his talk to newspaper men upon his arrival here. It was the first time reporters had been permitted to talk to the prisoner and Northcott described the conversation as his "last interview with the press."

Northcott appeared calmly at his arraignment without hesitancy.

"I am satisfied the case will never come to trial," he said. "I certainly do not intend to plead guilty to anything and I believe a few statements I make will clear it all up in time."

"Then you did not kill two Mexican boys and haul his body to Puente?" he was asked.

"No," he replied. "I am not a hearse driver."

Northcott stressed his religion as a help to him in his trouble.

In this day and age a person can not be too religious—too close to Christ," he said.

Calls Reporters Unfair.

The prisoner said he hoped not to talk to newspaper men again, because "they're unfair, and I have a natural repulsion for morbid news."

Northcott denied there existed any parallel between Hickman's crime and his own case.

"Hickman was a dandy," he said. "Northcott said he had sufficient funds for 'any defense I deem necessary.' He said he wanted to talk to his attorney, George Frederick Harrison, before disclosing any defense plans.

To prevent any possible demonstration against Northcott, he was taken from the train, which brought him from Vancouver, at Glendale, and brought to the county jail by automobile.

Insanity Plea Halts Hanging After Gov. Bilbo Refuses to Act in Case.

IS THIRD LEASE ON LIFE

Magnolia, Miss., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Twenty minutes before he was scheduled to drop from the gallows, Robert Percy Lofton was granted a reprieve today by Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo, which temporarily saved him from hanging for the murder of J. Earl Westbrook, chief of police of McComb, in August, 1926.

All preparations had been made for the hanging, and Gov. Bilbo had announced this afternoon he could not interfere. Later, however, he granted the reprieve until December 7, when attorneys for Lofton submitted an affidavit asserting he was temporarily insane at the time of the trial.

The attorneys communicated with Chief Justice Sydney Smith, who informed the governor they were within their rights in requesting additional time.

It was claimed insanity was caused by loss of blood resulting from gun wounds received in the conflict with Westbrook.

Twice before he was saved from the gallows by reprieve. After his conviction Lofton escaped jail and went to Canada, where he was apprehended recently.

Sacred Pageant Is Given In Metropolitan Church

A sacred pageant was presented last night at the Metropolitan Baptist Church, Twelfth and R streets northwest, under auspices of the directors of junior missionary work in the District of Columbia, a score of persons representing various biblical characters. The participants, including children, were elaborately costumed in purple, white and gold. The pageant was directed by Bertha B. King, with Ruth Jefferson as pianist.

Others who participated were S. R. Saunders, E. C. Smith, Lucy West, Ella Mizer, Hazel Frye, Grace Robinson, Mamie Walker, Olivia Jefferson, Sarah F. Lewis, and R. street north, where she was found. An electric transformer having a voltage of 39,000 is located a short distance from the village hall. A plank found near the furnace is similar to one used by workmen at the transformer station. Investigators pointed out.

Miss Knaak, during the three days she lived, told different stories of how she was burned.

Authorities, checking the story of James Kelley, Army deserter, who told officers at San Antonio that he burned Miss Knaak in the furnace at her instigation, doubted the truth of the statement. San Antonio authorities have been asked for more details on Kelley's story.

City-Suburban Contest on For Post Big News Prizes

Washington Pupils Lead in Grade-Junior High Division While Neighbors Make Best Showing in High School Section; Third Week Closes.

News in this morning's issue of The Washington Post is the last to be included in the third week of the "Big News" contest. Essays on items of the week just closed must be received by noon today. The contest is open to pupils of the city and suburban schools, and those just outside is on in earnest.

While students are studying the news of the past week, searching for subjects upon which to write, some interesting figures on the second week of competition show that the battle between District of Columbia pupils and those just outside is on in earnest.

In the high school section of the contest the boys and girls from surrounding territory, including Alexandria and Clarendon, outnumbered the entrants from the District of Columbia by a considerable margin. On the other hand, in the grade-junior high school division, the writers from schools of Washington exceeded those of outlying districts by just about the same margin.

Editors, designating the winners as members of The Washington Post "Big News" staff, will be sent to any one interested in the contest who fills out the coupon to be found below.

SHIP 6 MILES OFF 2 VESSELS IN GALE AS VESTRIA LISTED WATCH SINKING SHIP

American Tramp Received No Distress Signals on Day Before Sinking.

CAPTAINS DEFEND CAREY 13 REPORTED RESCUED

New York, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The log of the liner Transylvania told today of two ships rolling and heaving in mountainous seas as they stood by a freighter, their searchlights playing on the crew of the wreck whom they were helpless to aid.

The Transylvania docked today, three days overdue from Glasgow, part of which time was spent in a futile attempt to save the crew of the German freighter Herrenwyk, which sank off the Irish coast November 23.

Dispatches from Copenhagen said the Danish steamer Batavia, which was the other vessel to respond to the S.O.S. of the Herrenwyk, had saved 13 members of the crew. Capt. Robert Erskine, master of the Transylvania, said he had heard by radio that the boiler of the German ship had exploded and that only one man was saved by the hauling back to their davits before reaching the water to save their crews when the liner threatened to pitch over the side against the ship's side.

Capt. Erskine said he stood by the Herrenwyk from 3:30 p. m. Thursday until 7 a. m. Friday the continued to New York, leaving the Estonia to keep the vigil. During the night Capt. Erskine said he pumped large quantities of oil onto the sea in an attempt to calm them enough to make a rescue possible.

The crew of the German ship could be seen huddled amidships while the sea broke over the wreck. Her funnel and superstructure were gone and she was almost submerged, Capt. Erskine said.

The Transylvania's master said the voyage was one of the worst crossings he had ever made, with the ship's side and great seas belaboring the vessel all the way. The liner brought 802 passengers.

Report of Sze Transfer to London Is Credited

Announcement in Shanghai that Dr. C. C. Wu, now special representative of the Nanking government in Washington, will succeed Dr. Bao-ke Alfred Sze as Chinese Minister to the United States and that the latter will be transferred as Chinese envoy to London, failed of confirmation here yesterday.

Dr. Sze refused yesterday to either confirm or deny the report of his transfer to London, but stated that he would make an announcement shortly. This is taken to mean that some change is in contemplation, although no official word to that effect could be obtained.

OLD NEPTUNE VISITS
AS HOOVER'S FRIEND

President-Elect and Wife,
Who Have Crossed Equator,
Watch Initiation.

"WHOLE WORKS" GIVEN

U. S. S. Maryland en route to Guayaquil, Ecuador, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—With the equator behind it, the Hoover good-will ship today was approaching Guayaquil, Ecuador, its next port of call.

The President-elect and Mrs. Hoover today enjoyed watching King Neptune and his royal assistants carry out an initiation of those on the battleship crossing the equator for the first time. He and his wife more than a quarter of a century ago made their first trip across the equator and since then have been "shellbacks" in the parlance of the sea as "shellbacks."

Ceremony Is Elaborate

For the initiation today, the mythical sea king had assembled his royal family and the queen, the royal prince and the royal baby occupied places of honor as those being initiated were put through the ceremony. This consisted of taking bath pills, a throat spray, electric shock and splashing of lamp black and crude oil, and then ducking in a tank by the "royal beach." The novices were finally forced to run the gantlet of royal police lined up in double columns down the deck and applying batons vigorously.

The king and royal court assembled on the forward deck for a grand parade to the quarter deck, where the whole party was introduced to the King, Kimberly, commanding officer of the Maryland, and the Hoovers as they passed back. The procession included two coffins, one bearing a marine officer and the other a naval officer. They proceeded to the forecastle deck for the initiation.

Allan Hoover in Stocks

Allan Hoover, son of the President-elect, was required to march with his neck and wrists in stocks, as were some of the officers. Half a dozen newspaper correspondents who were equipped with morning clothes for the South American visit were summoned as honorary pallbearers, marching in full regalia, but they were given an opportunity to change into old clothes before being sentenced by the royal court to receive "the whole works."

Ten members of the Hoover party were first initiated. The royal court then attended to seven hundred and fifty of the battleship's officers and sailors who were crossing the "line" for the first time.

After Neptune and his court departed, Capt. Kimberly again took command of the ship. Upon arrival of Guayaquil early tomorrow morning the Hoover party will transfer to the cruiser Cleveland for a 60-mile voyage across the roadstead and up the river to the chief Ecuadorian city, where they will be greeted by President Ayora and remain over night.

Profanity When Home

Is Called "Joint" Upheld

No matter how strong his language, a man has a right to demand an apology when his home is referred to as a "joint," Judge Isaac R. Hitt ruled in Police Court yesterday in dismissing a disorderly conduct charge against Howard T. Blatchley, a taxi driver.

While emerging from his home with Henry J. Peterson, a fellow cab driver, Blatchley declared he was confronted by Policeman John Boyd, of the Tenth Precinct, who demanded, in reference to his home, "What kind of a joint is that?" Blatchley admitted that he used strong language in demanding an apology from the policeman, and said the policeman broke a pane of glass in his cab with a revolver while placing him under arrest.

former Minister to the United States, and Basil Stolica, who served on a Roumanian commission to organize the consular service in this country, were the best of friends while they were in America.

At the same time it was made clear at the legation that any trouble between Prince Bibesco, who is a son-in-law of Lord Asquith, and Stolica must have developed since the prince left the United States in March, 1926. It was said, however, that there may have been differences as to policies, but so far as the present members of the legation know there was no ill feeling.

Stolica came to this country in 1918 as a member of a commission of three named by the Roumanian government to establish consular offices at Chicago, Cleveland and New York. While Stolica was here, it was said, Prince Bibesco came to the United States as the first Minister from Roumania, upon the establishment of the embassy, in the latter part of 1920. Prior to that time Roumania had been represented by a charge d'affaires. They were in contact with each other continually until Bibesco returned to his homeland in 1921, it is asserted, but had to all appearances been friends.

Reports were current in Washington in January of 1926 that Prince Bibesco would retire as minister as a result of a quarrel with N. Titulescu, chairman of the Roumanian debt funding commission to the United States. Shortly after this the prince was recalled, and there was wide speculation as to the basis. Secretary of State Kellogg denied that he had asked for the recall of Prince Bibesco and Titulescu declined to make any comment.

Loughran Is Fined $25
For Divorce Trial Tilt

Daniel Loughran, local tobacco dealer, yesterday was determined to be a resident of Alexandria, Va., by a ruling by Judge William F. Woods, of the corporation court of that city. The ruling gave Loughran the first victory in the suit he has brought in Alexandria for a divorce from Mrs. Ruth Saffell, Daye Loughran.

Loughran drew a $25 fine from Judge Woods when he is said to have marked to a witness who testified against him, "I will get you." Robinson Monroe, appearing for the wife, appealed the decision of the court as to the residential status of Loughran.

REFERS TO PRECEDENTS

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Undaunted by the cool reception which the White House, the State Department and the Navy Department have accorded to his plan for an Anglo-American parliamentary conference on naval limitation of armaments, Representative Fred A. Britten, chairman of the House naval affairs committee, stood staunchly by his plan yesterday and defended his position. He proposes to press for the adoption of his plan and claims that obstacles based on diplomatic usage or "silly snail" about the Logan act of Revolutionary days should be and will be swept aside.

Encouragement came to the Illinois representative yesterday afternoon when he was informed that Prime Minister Baldwin was making a "friendly reply." He was also encouraged by the comment of some of the British newspapers respecting his proposal. And there was an encouraging humorous note added to the discussion of the Logan act as applied to communications from American citizens to foreign governments when the question was raised in a facetious vein as to whether President-elect Hoover would come within the ban while on his good-will trip to the countries of Latin America.

Hoover Trip Has Authority

Technically there is a difference, it is explained, because Mr. Hoover has the full authority of the Government for his trip, whereas Mr. Britten has no authority from the Government to send his communication to Premier Baldwin. But the relation of the Logan act to Mr. Britten's activities is not being discussed seriously in responsible quarters.

Official and naval officers now propose to see a possible serious disadvantage in keeping alive discussion of an Anglo-American arms limitation agreement if it is approved in spite of the discussion on the American Navy speech, is a source of anxiety to day circles, and it has been hoped that the rain continued throughout the day and the President kept for the most part indoors, resting, reading and listening to the club radio.

The drizzle sharply curtailed Mr. Coolidge's enjoyment of her favorite exercise, hiking, a recreation for which the President is well known.

The President was on the lookout early in the day for any let-up in the rain that would permit him to visit the traps that were installed especially for his visit on the terrace behind the club house.

Watches for Fair Weather

After breakfast he repaired to the sheltered porch at the front of the club and paced back and forth gazing frequently about the distant mountains and scanning the dark, low hanging clouds for any rift that might indicate a change in the weather.

In the meanwhile, he had received an invitation to go hunting for a few minutes on the neighboring estate of A. R. Moorehead, but because of the weather, that had to be declined.

His only caller was Representative Tucker, congressman for the district in which the club is located, who had come to the club for a few minutes to pay his respects and bid him welcome. He brought with him a quantity of Virginia sausage, which he hoped might find a place on the President's breakfast menu.

Apples Sent to President

There were other contributions, too, to the presidential larder. Six boxes of apples, apples, Golden Wonder, Winesap and Delicious—were sent to the clubhouse by R. G. Vance, a rich grower in the nearby valley. Richard H. Clemmer, of Waynesboro, sent a fine baked Virginia ham, which had been prepared by Mary Venie, an aged negro who cooked for Marshall Ford when he visited Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are keeping in close touch with Washington in order that they may be constantly posted on the condition of Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, a personal friend of long standing, who is ill at the White House. Their anxiety was considerably relieved today by reports that her condition had taken a turn for the better.

Mr. and Mrs. Stearns were to have been the President and Mrs. Coolidge's guests during their stay here, but due to Mrs. Stearns' illness, they were obliged to remain in Washington.

MISS MARY CLARKE DIES.

PARISH DEDICATION BY BISHOP FREEMAN

Prelate Gives Principal Talk
at Opening of Building for
St. Paul's Church.

ACTIVITIES GET IMPETUS

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of the Diocese of Washington, delivered the principal address last night at the formal opening and dedication of the new parish house of St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek Parish. Senior Warden W. B. Patterson presided.

Other speakers were the Rev. William First Bishop, of St. John's Church, Broad Creek, mother church of Rock Creek; the Rev. P. J. Bohanan, rector of St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek; and the Rev. J. J. Quailly, who discussed the mission churches of the parish.

The church school is to assemble in the new building for the first time Sunday. It was said, and a complete reorganization of the school is to be effected the first of the year by officers elected at the annual meeting Wednesday.

Twenty-six members of the choir are to present a play, "The Fishing Party," at the parish house at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The annual bazaar and chicken dinner is scheduled for Thursday night. The dinner is to be served from 8 to 7:30 o'clock.

The new parish house is located on the brow of the hill to the west of the church. It is of colonial design and somewhat resembles an old-time town hall. The main entrance to the auditorium is from the east, with a sloping terrace in front, and there is a classroom entrance from the south.

Reincarnation to Be Topic.
Members of the United Lodge of Theosophists will hear a lecture tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the headquarters, 700 Hill Building, on the subject of "Reincarnation Explained." Wednesday the study class will consider "Mind."

CATHEDRAL SERVICE TO OBSERVE ADVENT

Rev. G. F. Peter Will Preach in Morning, Bishop Freeman at Evensong.

OTHER EPISCOPAL RITES

The Rev. G. Freeland Peter, canon of Washington Cathedral, will preach at the service of the Holy Communion tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the Bethlehem Chapel.

The cathedral choir of men and boys, under direction of Edgar Priest, organist and choirmaster, will sing at the morning service and later at the people's evensong, which is broadcast every Sunday over station WRC. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preach at the latter service.

Holy Communion will be celebrated also at 7:30 o'clock at the cathedral, with morning prayer and the litany following at 10 o'clock.

The Rev. Herbert Scott Smith will deliver the first sermon in advent tomorrow morning at St. Margaret's Church. In the afternoon Donald B. McLeod, organist and choirmaster, will lead in a special musicale to be given by the choir.

Young People to Meet.

The Young People's Society of St. Margaret's will hold its weekly meeting at 6 o'clock in the parish hall. There will be a debate on a subject of public interest, to be followed by a supper and a social hour.

The Right Rev. P. M. Rhinelander will conduct the exercises tomorrow morning at the Church of the Ascension, Massachusetts avenue and Twelfth street northwest. The nation-wide communion by men and boys will be observed.

The services of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church will be held in the new parish hall at Sixteenth and Newton streets tomorrow. The new church will not be completed until Christmas, when Bishop Freeman is expected to deliver the initial sermon. The bishop will preach the sermon tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the evangelist mission service in the parish hall.

Day of Devotion Stated.

St. Agnes Church, 46 Q street northwest, will hold its annual day of devotion Wednesday. The Rev. Franklin Joiner, rector of St. Clement's Church, Philadelphia, will conduct the service.

The Rev. Florian Vurpillot, pastor of the French Congregation, will preach on "La Reconnaissance" tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. John's Church, Sixteenth street and Lafayette square.

St. John's Episcopal Church, Bethesda, will celebrate the first Sunday in Advent tomorrow morning. The Rev. Clarence Prentice Parker, pastor of the church, will preach.

The St. John's Guild will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday. Mrs. Richard Cunningham, president, will preside at the business session. Capt. L. H. Charles will be host to the Every-Member Canvass Committee of the church at a dinner Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Eldbrooke M. E. Church Seeking $50,000 Fund

A drive for $50,000 in ten days has been started by the Eldbrooke Methodist Episcopal Church, Wisconsin avenue and River road, to clear debts and build a new church. The workers held a rally last night in the church to perfect plans. The drive will be brought to a close December 10, with a supper at the church. S. Carroll Coale is chairman of the drive.

As this campaign opens, that of the Chevy Chase Methodist Church draws to a close. All but $4,674 of the $40,000 needed has been raised. It was reported, and the trustees expect to raise the remainder shortly.

Nativity Chapel Plans Anniversary Service

The Chapel of the Nativity, Fourteenth and A streets southeast, will celebrate its fifth anniversary tomorrow. The chapel was started on Advent Sunday, 1923, by the present vicar, the Rev. Enoch Thompson, on the corners at Seventeenth and East Capitol streets.

After five years in the original structure, the congregation moved into the present building. The congregation now numbers 625 communicants, with 320 scholars in the Sunday school.

PARISH DEDICATION BY BISHOP FREEMAN

Prelate, Gives Principal Talk
at Opening of Building for
St. Paul's Church.

ACTIVITIES GET IMPETUS

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of the Diocese of Washington, delivered the principal address last night at the formal opening and dedication of the new parish house of St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek Parish. Senior Warden W. B. Patterson presided.

Other speakers were the Rev. William Hirst Bingham, of St. John's Church, Broad Creek, mother church of Rock Creek; the Rev. P. J. Bohanan, rector of St. Paul's Church, Rock Creek, and the Rev. J. J. Quelly, who discussed the mission churches of the parish.

The church school is to be effected the first of the year by officers elected at the annual meeting Wednesday.

Twenty-six members of the choir are to present a play, "The Fishing Party," at the parish house at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The annual bazaar and chicken dinner is scheduled for Thursday night. The dinner is to be served from 5 to 7:30 o'clock.

The new parish house is located on the brow of the hill to the west of the church. It is of colonial design and somewhat resembles an old-time town hall. The main entrance to the auditorium is from the east, with a sloping terrace in front, and there is a classroom entrance from the south.

Reincarnation to Be Topic.

Members of the United Lodge of Theosophists will hear a lecture tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the headquarters at 709 Hill Building, on the subject of "Reincarnation Explained." Wednesday the study class will consider "Mind."

SERMONS OF SERIES AT SHILOH BAPTIST

Rev. J. M. Waldron to Preach on "The Holy Spirit" at Morning Service.

SOCIETY TO MEET IN "Y"

The Rev. J. Milton Waldron, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Institutional Church, will preach on "The Holy Spirit—Who Is He?" at the morning service tomorrow. This is one in a series of sermons on "The Person and Work of the Holy Spirit."

"Heaven—What Is It and How to Get There?" is the topic announced for Dr. Waldron's evening sermon. The choir will render special music at both services.

The Rev. George O. Bullock will occupy the pulpit tomorrow morning at the Third Baptist Church. He will preach on "Obedience to the Heavenly Vision."

The congregation at the New Bethel Baptist Church will hear the Rev. William D. Davis tomorrow morning. He will speak on "Wondering Gratitude." The Christian Endeavor Society will meet at 5:30 o'clock. The junior choir will give special Thanksgiving music during the meeting.

The Rev. R. W. Brooks will preach on "Maintaining the Spiritual Glow" at the service tomorrow morning at the Lincoln Congregational Temple. The Christian Endeavor Society will meet in the Twelfth Street Y. M. C. A. at 6:45 o'clock. The members of the society will discuss "What Is Our Reasonable Service?"

The Rev. Henry D. Tillman will fill the pulpit tomorrow morning at the John Wesley Church. The senior vested choir will sing.

The church will celebrate its seventy-eighth anniversary December 10 with special services each afternoon thereafter to December 17. Twenty-five organizations are cooperating in the celebration and members of other congregations have been invited to attend the services each afternoon.

Baptist Young People Will Assist Near East

The Baptist Young People's organizations will observe Golden Rule Sunday tomorrow, when a collection will be taken for the Near East relief.

The members are expected to contribute the difference between their regular meal and that of an orphan's. The executive board of the Columbia Federation of Baptist Young Peoples Union will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Central Union Mission Building. There was a large attendance at the sunrise prayer service on Thanksgiving held by the union.

Post Subscribers Offered Help on Savings Accounts

Banks of District Cooperate as Paper Gives $1 for Each
New Subscription; Christmas Club Plan Growing in Favor, Records Show.

Will you receive a Christmas Savings Club check today?

If not, you probably wish that you had started a savings account last year. Furthermore, you are probably making plans for starting such an account soon, so that next Christmas will find you prepared for the added financial burden of holiday shopping.

The Washington Post is ready to start a Christmas Savings Club for every one in its territory.

On page 11 of today's issue of The Washington Post will be found a full-page advertisement telling of this offer, giving the rules, rate schedules and suggestions for securing subscriptions to The Post.

Briefly, The Post's plan is to deposit $1 in a Christmas Savings Club for each new subscriber to The Post, provided the subscription is for three months and paid in advance. Regular subscribers of the paper may have $1 deposited to their credit for every new reader they secure under the terms of the offer.

Banks in every section of the District of Columbia are cooperating with The Washington Post in this thrift plan so that you may have your savings account started in your neighborhood bank.

Three Plans Offered.

There are three distinct plans for the operation of this Christmas Savings Club offer. One is for new subscribers, one for present subscribers and one for those who wish to carry on after opening an account. Full details of these plans will be found in today's full-page advertisement.

Christmas Savings Clubs are growing rapidly in the District of Columbia. From 66,270 in 1925 they have extended to 83,178 in 1928. Their value has risen from $4,447,741 in 1925 to $7,046,497 this year. You want to share in the benefits of this plan and The Washington Post is ready to help you start your account and then keep it up.

Subscriptions to The Post for three months make ideal Christmas presents. Friends will remember each day for that period, your thoughtfulness during the holiday season. In addition to providing an excellent gift, the subscription starts a savings account which will mean added happiness for you next Christmas.

You may have your account started or your $1 added to an account at any one of the following 33 main office and branch banks.

List of Banks.

Federal-American, Fourteenth at G street northwest; Washington Loan & Trust, Ninth and F streets northwest; The Washington Trust, Seventeenth at G street northwest; National Savings & Trust, Fifteenth at New York Avenue northwest; District National, 1406 G street northwest; Bank of America, 229 Ninth street northwest and Connecticut Avenue at K street northwest; Commercial National, Fourteenth at G street northwest; Merchants Bank & Trust, Twentieth at Pennsylvania Avenue northwest, branch at Twelfth and Newton streets northwest.

Security Savings & Commercial, 701 Ninth street northwest; Franklin National, Tenth at Pennsylvania Avenue, branch, 1111 Connecticut Avenue; Second National, 609 Seventh street northwest; Vernon, 1333 G street northwest; Mount Vernon Savings, Ninth at Mount Vernon place northwest.

North Capital Savings, North Capitol at H street; McLaughlin Banking Corporation, Tenth at G street northwest—branch, 1330 B street southwest; Chevy Chase Savings, 5524 Connecticut Avenue; Anacostia Bank, Nichols Avenue at U street southeast; Northeast Savings, 800 H street northeast; Woodridge-Landon Savings and Commercial, 2027 Rhode Island Avenue northeast; International Exchange, Fifth at H street northwest; Bank of Brightwood, 5913 Georgia Avenue northwest.

These banks want to increase the number of Christmas Savings Clubs for 1929, and The Washington Post wants to help every one start such an account. Don't fail to read full details of this offer in the full-page advertisement on page 11.

Parole for Miller Is Urged by Board

Former Custodian of Alien Properties Now Serving
Term for Fraud.

The Federal Parole Board yesterday recommended Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, for a parole. Miller was convicted in New York, in March, 1927, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government and sentenced to serve eighteen months in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta. He began serving the term April 24, 1928.

Before the parole board's recommendation becomes effective, it must be approved by Attorney General Sargent. Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General; the late John T. King, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut; and Jess W. Smith, associate of Daugherty, who committed suicide, were indicted with Miller. The jury disagreed on Daugherty.

With the others with whom he was indicted, Miller was alleged to have agreed to pass claims for $7,000,000, proceeds of the sale of shares of the impounded American Metal Co. seized during the war. Testimony was introduced to show Miller's bank account disclosed acceptance of a $50,000 fee to effect allowance of the claim.

Wife Charges Desertion.

Charging desertion, Mrs. Katherine B. Offutt, of 762 Newton street northwest, filed suit in the District Supreme Court yesterday for limited divorce from her husband, Wilfred Offutt, employee of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, of 2114 Wisconsin Avenue northwest.

PAROLE ASKED

THOMAS W. MILLER.

The parties were married November 18, 1902, and have a child, now 20 years old, according to the petition. Through her counsel, T. Morris Wampler, Mrs. Offutt charged her husband with desertion in August, 1926.

Hupp Buys Control Of Chandler Motor

New Automobile Plant Merger Involves Assets of $130,000,000.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The Hupp Motor Car Corporation today acquired control of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation, forming a concern with assets of approximately $130,000,000, according to present stock market values. Announcement of the merger was made by Samuel Regar, secretary and one of the founders of the Chandler.

Regar did not announce what use would be made of the Cleveland plant, which represents an investment of $10,000,000. Hupp officials at Detroit were out of the city, as was Fred C. Chandler, president of Chandler-Cleveland.

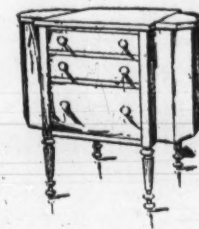

Hupp has factories in Detroit, Jackson, Mich., and Windsor, Ontario. Acquisition of 315,000 shares was necessary for control of Chandler-Cleveland as there were 350,000 shares of preferred and 230,000 shares of common stock outstanding. The Chandler company and its subsidiaries have assets valued at about $16,000,000.

Regar and Chandler founded the Chandler Co. in 1915 and put stock on the market the following year after a refinancing program. The Cleveland Automobile Co. was started a few years later to produce a lower priced car than Chandler, but later the two companies were consolidated.

and there was no reason to believe that it was to be any different in the last campaign.

Not only did Houghton come over and make a stubborn campaign, however, but he went out of the State to campaign for Hoover. It might therefore be said that the Republican powers that be are obligated to him.

Of course, before it can be considered that his negotiations for an apartment here have any relation to his entering the Cabinet it must be assumed that some word that he was the likely appointee must have reached him shortly after the election, even before.

Houghton might be considered peculiarly fitted for the job at this particular time because of the course the relations between the country and European countries, especially Great Britain, and France must inevitably take in the near future. Just now limitation of naval armament is the force, and the French and British are planning to revise the Daves plan soon in the immediate background. Coming from his post in London he would, of course, bring fresh and detailed information to the State Department.

New York Heads List.

It is because of this in fact, that there is considerable thought in local political circles that Hoover might want him as Secretary of State for a while at least.

On the other hand, Hoover might consider it more important to have a man more conversant with South American affairs than European as his Secretary of State. It was not until Ambassador Fletcher was selected to accompany the President-elect on his tour that his name came into the speculation. Mr. Fletcher, incidentally, has had both South American and European training.

F. A. Carr Will Marry.

Miss Ellen Matsudaria

Franklin A. Carr, 22 years old, of the Surveyor's office of the District Building, who lives in Hyattsville, yesterday in this city obtained a license to marry Miss Ellen Matsudaria, 18, the daughter of the former mayor of Edmonston, Md. Miss Matsudaria's home is in Edmonston.

Although no date has been set for the wedding, it will be held in Washington, and the ceremonies are to be conducted by Rev. Clyde Brown, of Hyattsville. Miss Matsudaria attended school in Washington.

KILLING OF FARMER LAID TO WITCHCRAFT

Investigators learned. He had attended powwows in York.

Everywhere in their investigations the officers came upon survivals of belief in the practicing of charms popular in the Pennsylvania Dutch colonies more than a century ago.

The family of Milton J. Hess, father of Wilbert, believed that witchcraft must be used to combat witchcraft, and Blymere, whom they hired, persuaded the youth that Rehmyer had had something to do with the spell, Hess said, and that a lock of Rehmyer's hair must be obtained for burial behind the barn.

Hess, Blymere and Curry went to force Rehmyer to give up the lock. A fight ensued, ending with the death of Rehmyer.

The killing was the second attributable to witchcraft in York County in the last decade. Despite the efforts of authorities, the powwows and practice of charms still flourish in the backwoods communities and are carried on surreptitiously in the villages and cities.

Dismissal Is Upheld.

Howard J. Dorembscher, of the Fourteenth Precinct, was convicted by the trial board on September 11 of intoxication, duty, insubordination and disrespect to Lieut. H. H. Groves, his superior officer, and sleeping in the precinct station squadroom. He was sentenced to be dismissed, but appealed. The Commissioners approved the board sentence.

J. E. Mullen, of the Fifth Precinct, was dismissed when he lost his appeal from the decision of the trial board which convicted him of being drunk and of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Owen E. Jackson, a railway crossing policeman, was dismissed for the non-payment of debts.

at Garrett Park, Md., where his father, the youngest son of the traction magnate, also studied as a boy. The boy is now a student at a Benedictine priory in Portsmouth, R. I.

The children's father, who served as a lieutenant in the Army during the World War, died several years ago. Their mother's death followed about two years ago.

Mrs. Ryan, with her children, spent much time abroad, living principally at Rome. A sufferer from asthma, she sought a climate which provided relief from the ailment. Both children began elementary education under tutors in Europe.

Mrs. Ryan, who before her marriage to the capitalist's son was Miss Nannie Clarke Morse, died in this city after her son and daughter had been enrolled in the schools already mentioned. Upon Mrs. Morse, their grandmother, devolved the care of the youngsters. They have led simple lives at the large estate where she makes her home, Mrs. Morse said yesterday.

Will Shield Them From Influence.
"Inheritance of large sums of money is detrimental to the advancement of young people," Mrs. Morse said. "We are going to do everything in our power to shield them from its influence."

Besides their grandmother, the children have an aunt, two uncles and a number of other relatives living in this city.

The young heiress is said to be fond of outdoor sports, especially horseback riding. She is held in high regard by friends at the convent. Neither of the children is able to fully comprehend the vast importance of their grandfather's bequest, friends say. Their grief over his death is apparent to all who know them, it was said.

The family yesterday was not inclined to shed any light on the plans of the young folk for the future. It was learned, however, that little Miss Ryan will continue to attend classes at the convent, and for the present her brother will continue his studies at the Portsmouth priory.

Shirt Study for Son.

New York, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—The will of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, capitalist, leaves most of his vast estate to members of the family, but only a pair of pearl shirt studs to Allan A. Ryan, the son from whom the traction magnate became estranged several years ago.

Ryan, who died November 23, leaving an estate estimated at between $200,000 and $500,000, made two charitable bequests. One was a $50,000 gift to a New York branch of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament, the other was a trust fund sufficient to yield an income of $3,000 for maintaining the Thomas F. Ryan scholarship at the University of Virginia.

Ryan made numerous bequests to servants at his three residences in New York State and Virginia and to employees who had helped him in the administration of his vast interests.

The testament, a document of 33 typewritten pages, filed today, directed that the residuary estate be divided into 54 parts and distributed as follows:

(A) Twelve parts in trust for Glendennin J. Ryan, a son, who is to receive the income for life and upon his death the principal is to be divided among his children, who, however, are not to receive the principal until they reach the age of 30 years.

(B) Twelve parts to John B. Ryan, a son, with the same provision about his children.

(C) Five parts are to be divided by the trustees among the children of his dead son, Joseph J. Ryan.

(d) Similar provision is made for the children of his deceased son, William K. Ryan.

(e) Eight parts are to be divided among the children of Allan A. Ryan.

(f) Twelve parts to his wife, Mary T. Ryan.

The trustees are directed to pay to Mrs. Ryan so much of the income of these twelve parts as are necessary to support her. The surplus is to be divided into 42 equal parts.

Herbert H. Vreeland, his business secretary, receives $50,000 for "unending loyalty and marked ability" in handling the magnate's affairs.

Herbert H. Vreeland, his business secretary, receives $50,000 for "unending loyalty and marked ability" in handling the magnate's affairs.

Helen M. Seely, the financier's secretary, receives $5,000 and life income from a $100,000 trust fund.

House servants of at least five years' service were remembered with $1,000 bequests, while other servants got $500 each.

Virginia Gets Cash.

Miss Cornelia Fortune, a cousin living in Nelson County, Va., and Henry Sendall, a chauffeur, each receive $2,500.

The will established New York as Ryan's legal residence, a fact that is expected to yield the State many millions in taxes.

The financier provided that precious art objects in his residences should be sold by the trustees at face value and that the widow and the sons should have the first right to purchase.

"I give and bequeath my pearl white shirt studs to my son, Allan A. Ryan," said the will.

Except for providing that that son was to have third choice in the event that members of the family sought to purchase the same art objects, this sentence was the only direct reference to the man whose several years ago went into bankruptcy after the famous Stutz Motors corner in Wall street.

The magnate's thoroughbred horses go to the son, Glendennin.

Ryan directed that the maintenance of the Oak Ridge, Va., property should be a general charge on his estate until its sale by the executors or trustees at such time and upon such terms and conditions as may be fixed or determined upon by them in their discretion.

Washington, Friday, Nov. 30—8 p. m.
Forecast—For the District of Columbia: Fair and colder Saturday; Sunday probably fair, moderate to fresh northwest winds, diminishing by Saturday night.

For Maryland—Partly cloudy and colder, probably snow flurries in the mountains Saturday; Sunday generally fair; fresh west and northwest winds, diminishing by Saturday night.

For Virginia—Fair and colder, preceded by rain on Sunday; Saturday, probably fair, fresh to strong northwest winds, diminishing by Saturday night.

The disturbance that was central over Missouri Thursday night has moved northeastward to the lower Lake region, with a further increase in intensity. It is now a low pressure system, with a trough extending southward to Virginia, and thence southwestward to the Alabama coast. The disturbance that was central near the Great Slave Lake is advancing eastward, and is now a low pressure system, with a trough extending southward to the lower Lake region, and thence southwestward to the Alabama coast.

National Council of Teachers
Hears Grammar Talk by Michigan Educator.

RIGID RULES UNDER FIRE

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Many of the words and grammatical constructions used in every-day language in the United States, though they may be traditionally bad, are accepted as good English by the majority of people because they form the quick and easiest means of expressing and understanding a given thought. Charles Carpenter Fries, professor of English at University of Michigan, told delegates to the annual session of the National Council of Teachers of English here today.

Other words and constructions which are not accepted in certain social strata are actually founded on good traditional English usage and construction. The erroneous belief that they are wrong results from an unconscious feeling of revulsion against their usage, he said.

The majority of persons, including many school teachers, he said, believe that the use of words and phrases are not correct unless they are "strictly according to rule." In accord with this view, Dr. Fries outlined, "it is me" is condemned as wrong because the form "me" violates the rule that "the verb 'to be' takes the same case after it as stands before it."

"Had wrote" is likewise judged to be incorrect grammar because of the rule that "with the auxiliary 'have' or 'had' the past participle must be used, not the form of the simple past tense." This attitude that rules are the measure for correct English, he said, is the basis for the educational investigation of the language errors of school children and adults, he said.

He advised the gathered English teachers that students should not be taught English simply according to rote and rule. The fact that certain words are used frequently by persons in the accepted social sphere indicates that they are advisable and should form a part of our language, Dr. Fries said. The desire of most persons to appear intelligent will prohibit the possibility of too many such words creeping into our language, he continued.

When Aint's Not Wrong.
The word "ain't," according to Dr. Fries, who is also president of the council, comes in for the severest criticism. Actually, he said, the word is good English and is based on traditional rule, being a contraction of "am not." Many persons feel an unconscious and disagreeable reaction against the use of the word, however, and it is held by many as bad English. Because of its general usage, it is also used incorrectly by persons using it with plural nouns and pronouns, as "they ain't."

The fact that Governor Alfred E. Smith used the word "ain't" in his speeches throughout the country undoubtedly resulted in his loss of a great number of votes, Dr. Fries declared. The report that Smith used the word did not reach him, he said, but when the people of the country heard him use the word in his speeches, many of them unconsciously reacted against the use of the word.

Five-Story Plunge Kills American at Oxford

Oxford, England, Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Robert Cohen, of San Francisco, who had been in Oxford three years as a noncollegiate student, was found dead this morning as a result of a fall from the window of his room on the fifth floor of Canterbury House.

The fact that a dressing table which had been moved from the window had been moved was taken by authorities as evidence of suicide. There was, however, nothing to explain such a motive, Dr. Cohen or "Cohn," as some spelled his name, was specializing in diseases of the eye, nose and throat.

Plane Builder Rejects Baltimore Factory Site

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Helen L. Martin, chief of the airplane manufacturer, notified city officials today of his rejection of the proposed Baltimore municipal airport as a site for the airplane factory which he will build somewhere along the Atlantic seaboard. He told Mayor Broening that he would erect a small experimental station here pending his decision on a factory location.

One of his reasons for rejecting the Baltimore site was that he wanted to own his plant site. Baltimore had offered him a lease.

A. C. Goebel Flies East To Begin Record Trip

Wichita, Kans., Nov. 30 (A.P.).—Arthur C. Goebel, flying his rebuilt "Goelaroo" Traveler monoplane, in which he plans to attempt to set a new transcontinental nonstop flight record, hopped off here at 2:05 p. m. today for New York City. He intended to stop at Belleville, Ill., where he indicated he probably would pass the night.

THE CINEMA WEEK

Corinne Griffith and Edmund Lowe—Earle.

David Rollins—Fox.

Norma Talmadge—Columbia.

MR. DIX GOES AND JOINS THE JOLLY MARINES

Richard Dix is "back from the wars" with a pair of calloused hands and a tan two shades darker than bronze. Dix acquired the marks of toil on his hands and the tan on his face while earning the life of a marine recruit at the United States Marine Base in San Diego, where many scenes of his current starring picture "Moran of the Marines" were filmed. The picture is now showing at Loew's Palace.

Dix, and members of his unit, spent a week at the Marine Base and during the routine of a marine life in the Marine Corps taught me a lot of things. I began to find muscles that I never knew existed. They let me know in no uncertain manner that they were a part of me, however, after I had wrestled with sacks of spuds, gone through bayonet exercises, and dug what seemed to me like 5 miles of trench.

DAVID BUTLER CLICKS AGAIN AS A FUNSTER

Fun, which seems to be the chief ambition of David Butler, Fox director, is said to be rampant in "Win That Girl," which opens today at the Fox Theater.

For this film version of "Father and Son," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, Butler has selected a sterling cast headed by the lovely Sue Carol and David Rollins.

From the outset Butler makes it clear that action is the keynote and comedy the high goal. Time and again his characters become involved in exasperating situations growing out of a family football feud. Only a man, say the picture makers, with the keen sense of humor possessed by Butler could get so many logical chuckles into the footage.

John Stone, in adapting the story, has drawn upon his own college background in New York universities. Butler, himself a college athlete of no mean ability, has contributed his full share of the rib-ticklers.

There is something about Butler's fun which is not only contagious, but which is so wholesome that every member of the family can see it and not feel ashamed of the experience. There is no straining after effect, no brazen wisecracks and nothing that can be found objectionable by the most refined spectator.

THIS LAD WAS MEANT TO BE A TOREADOR!

Gilbert Roland, who plays opposite Norma Talmadge for the third consecutive time in "The Woman Disputed," at Loew's Columbia Theater now, was born in Mexico in 1904, the son of Spanish parents. His father had been a famous Spanish toreador, and as had other members of the family, and Gilbert, then Luis Antonio Demasco de Alonzo, had youthful dreams of a career in the bull ring.

But fate stepped in, and the youth, after acquiring an education from books, decided to explore the world. His travels took him to Hollywood—and the motion-picture virus began its work! He changed his name—born from two of his favorite stars, Gilbert and Ruth Roland—and then stormed the studio gates, at first without much success.

UNCLE TOM'S GLORIFIED IN A GREAT FILM

The presentation of the $2,000,000 Universal production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is now playing at Grandall's Metropolitan Theater, recalled to an old actor an occurrence 55 years ago at the Old Bowery Theater in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Howard headed their own company of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," portraying the role of St. Clare and Topsy, respectively. The troupe had just been formed and the Boweryites were in... fewer of expectancy. When the curtain rolled up, Haley and the other slave buyers, who were to commence the show, forgot their lines.

Finally the stage manager came on and escorted them both off the stage, neither having been able to utter a word.

THE ORCHID OF THE SCREEN IN FERGUSON ROLE

Never has Corinne Griffith appeared to greater advantage than in the role of Miriam, a girl of easy virtue but with a heart of gold and a soul above her sordid surroundings, who not only rises to great heights herself, but also uplifts the man she loves in "Outcast," her second First National starring picture under her new contract with that organization. This widely-heralded picture, directed by William A. Seiter, is being shown on the Earle screen this week.

The stellar role made famous on the stage by Elsie Ferguson over a decade ago when the celebrated Hubert Henry Davies play had its Broadway opening in New York and afterward toured several important cities, calls for real character delineation and gives Miss Griffith an opportunity for tremendous emotional depths contrasted with lighter moments, which bring into play her keen comedy sense.

Army Game Given Over Radio Today

McNamee Will Tell Play-by-Play Contest With Leland Stanford in New York This Afternoon. Damrosch at 8:30 P. M.

A description of the Leland Stanford-Army football game at the Yankee Stadium, New York City, will be broadcast through the combined coast-to-coast network of the NBC system at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. Graham McNamee will handle the play-by-play account of the game, while Lawrence Perry, sports writer, will give a summary of the play between the halves and at the end of the game.

The intercollegiate game, which marks the end of the football season, is expected to draw one of the largest crowds of the year. The stadium seats about 85,000 persons, and it is expected that it will be filled to capacity. Special microphones will be installed to pick up the music of the bands and the cheering of the crowds. Station WRC will be included in the network.

"The Red Mill," a musical comedy in two acts, by Victor Herbert, will be produced as the Leland Stanford game. With Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More in the leading roles at 9 o'clock. The book and lyrics of the piece are by Henry Blossom, and it was given its premiere performance at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, in 1906. The time is the present, and the place, Katwyan-Zee, Holland.

A new program will begin tonight with the presentation of the National Symphony Orchestra, with Walter Damrosch as guest conductor, at 8:30 o'clock. This feature will be broadcast on a coast-to-coast hookup, and is the first sustaining program of the NBC to be so widely distributed.

A review of Irish dance music will be heard during the week-end feature of the Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra at 10 o'clock tonight. The complete program follows:

"Dance of the Blue Danube," "Everybody Loves You," "Miss Annabelle Lee," "Magnolia," "Challie," "Adorable Dora," "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Kathleen Maureen," "A Little Bit of Heaven," "Mother Macchree," "Come Back to Erin," "My Wild Irish Rose," "By-By Blackbirds," "That's a Good Girl," "Mystery," "I'm on the Street," "A Wave," "Give Me an American Tune," "So Blue," "Tommy," "Polly Primrose," "That's My Weakness Now," "Seduction," and "Running Wild."

An hour of dance music from Wardman Park will conclude WRC's day on the air.

Station WOL will broadcast a church service each Sunday morning, beginning tomorrow, at 11 o'clock, when the service from the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, of which Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, is pastor, will be put on the air. Dr. Sizoo is not new to Washington, and has been frequently heard on the air. His topic tomorrow morning will be "Called Christian."

Today the station will present its regular program, beginning with the musical clock at 7:30 o'clock. A dinner music and request program will fill the hour from 8 o'clock, followed by the Carolinians Frat Band.

Saturday night will be known as Washington night at the station, since all of its program will originate in the studios on that evening, except on special occasions. Every other night in the week WOL is a member of the Columbia Broadcasting System chain. Dot Myers Wildman and her Metro-Melody Orchestra will be on the air for a sixth program of dance music. Gertrude Kreiselman, local pianist, will be on the air for fifteen minutes at 8:15 o'clock, followed by the Hawaiian Melody Boys.

Mary Apple, contralto, accompanied by Christopher Tenney, pianist, will be heard at 9:40 o'clock, after which the Brunswick-Salerno Nighters will be on the air for an hour.

WORK'S BRIDGE

WITH the opening of a new contract season it is but natural that a flood of contracts should be sprung upon the contract players of the country. Contract is a game which invites new ideas and it is very probable that the game will be as long as bidding conventions that have not yet been conceived.

This season's novelty crop has run along the line of what is called "forced bids" to a great extent; a bid which says: "Partner, whether you have great strength, moderate strength or an utter bust, you must bid something so that I have another chance to declare." One example of a bid forcing a bid is the original one-tenth of a minor over the meaning that it always must be overcalled by the partner so as to give the original bidder a chance to show his hand. Also, a bid of one of a suit overcalled by its partner with one of some other suit which, according to the forced bid code, compels the original bidder to bid so that his partner can develop his strength gradually.

It is doubtful whether this type of bidding ever will prove successful. It is confusing and unpopular with the rank and file of players. There is grave doubt whether it is ever advisable to force a bid from partner except in a case in which it is impossible to have partner choose between certain conventions that are offered. Almost all new conventions are framed of getting to blame others.

While in some of these results may be of doubtful value, it is doubtful whether the one-tenth of a minor from various causes is adopted. Bright orange coupled with white is the general prescription for evening wraps at Gotham's horse show, an event which strives hard to live up to past glories but somehow falls short of them.

The coat minus fur may always be supplemented by either an animal skin or never still a round fur bonnet or Molyneux's ostrich bow which, while not a new nor an insistent note, is still within one's rights.

The gift of something to wear is deserving of immediate attention and covers a wide range of lovely things. As:

Handbags, usually mounted, but remarkable for highly ornamental clasp effect, many of which are novel and of metal.

Handkerchiefs among which are the men's size chiffon types, lace covered or monogrammed, and to be worn tied about the wrist.

Novelty stockings, ranging from open mesh evening stockings to novelty hosiery and silk and wool hose for sports. Bechnut is one of the newest shades for street wear.

A Thrift Message

This is a message to every one who shops at Christmas. It is especially a message to the fortunate persons who are shopping with money from Christmas Savings accounts—who know the joy of a Cash Christmas.

If you are one of the eighty-three thousand persons in Washington who carried throughout the year a Christmas Club you know you will always carry one. That Christmas shopping, once so formidable, becomes a source of keen pleasure and the joy of giving is heightened by the knowledge that you have the cash in hand.

Millions of dollars will be drawn from Christmas Clubs this week and thousands of persons be made happy. Then the saving for next year will begin. If you have a check do not spend it all. Save something for a nest egg. If you have never joined a club do so at once.

The Washington Post Can Help You Start in a Club

The Washington Post and many of the banks maintaining Christmas Savings Clubs are working together to make it possible and easy for every person in Washington to join a club for next year. We have made it possible for you to secure your initial payment without cost and have made arrangements to open the account for you in the bank most convenient to your home or office. Every member in the family may now join a club and learn the habit of saving and the joy of having.

Plan Number One

This plan applies to all persons who are not at present regular subscribers to The Post. By placing your order for a subscription to the daily and Sunday Washington Post and paying in advance for three months, The Washington Post will enroll you in a Christmas Savings Club at any of the banks listed herein and deposit to your credit $1. You will receive The Post early every morning for three months, direct to your door, be saved the trouble of opening an account and receive $1 credit on same. This is an opportunity that should not be overlooked by the thousands of persons buying our paper every morning on the street.

Plan Number Two

This plan applies to all persons who are at present subscribers to The Washington Post. Secure from some friend not at present a subscriber their subscription for three months to the daily and Sunday Post. Tell them the advantages of having service direct to their door every morning. Turn in their order and payment for three months. The Washington Post will then open a Christmas Savings Club in the bank most convenient to you, provided it is listed herein, and place $1 of the payment to your credit.

Plan Number Three

After opening an account you may carry this on by bringing in as many subscriptions as you desire. For each new three-month paid-in-advance subscription $1 will be placed to your credit. This will meet your weekly payment and enable you to carry the club without cost to yourself.

New subscriptions sent as Christmas presents will help you save as well as give a most appreciated three-month gift. Orders may be started as of December 25th.

Rules Governing Offer

All subscriptions submitted under the offer are subject to the following rules:

- (1)—All orders must be for the daily and Sunday Washington Post for a period of three months and until discontinued.
- (2)—All subscriptions must be paid three months in advance (see city and mail rates).
- (3)—All orders must be new, that is, person subscribing must not have had paper delivered to them during past month. Mail orders as well as city delivery orders will be accepted.
- (4)—No renewal of present subscription accepted under this offer.
- (5)—Subscriptions may start on a specific date provided it be not more than thirty days after subscription is placed.
- (6)—All money deposited is subject to the rules of the bank, wherein deposited, governing Christmas Savings Accounts.
- (7)—All orders subject to verification.
- (8)—The Washington Post reserves the right to reject any subscription that in their judgment does not conform to the above rules.

Little Lessons on Thrift

A POCKET FULL OF CHANGE

Pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and halves—how many dollars go out just that way. A pocket full in the morning and a bill broken by noon to make another. It's so easy to spend loose change. Do you remember your father's old change purse, three compartments fastened with crooked clips at the top? It took so long to get it out and opened that the quarter you expected generally turned out to be a nickel. But the purse was usually well filled for that very reason. That's the way with a Christmas Savings Account. Once a dollar's in, there it stays until next Christmas and each dollar has for company the loose change it has earned.

A Christmas Gift Suggestion

Give your friends The Post for Christmas. What could be more appropriate than a three months' reminder of your Christmas thoughtfulness?

You may send the paper either by carrier in the city or by mail (see mail rates). You will receive credit of one dollar on your club.

If you have already joined a Christmas Club at one of the banks listed herein, you can apply this $1.00 credit direct to your club. Always specify if you have an account.
